

Lorenzo Faedi

Lorenzo holds a Master's degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Bologna (Italy). With over 10 years' experience as resident Technical Manager in different Countries, including Italy, Nigeria and Norway, Lorenzo is currently the Technical Manager at Treviicos, the American subsidiary of Trevi.

Lorenzo's experience began in 2011 as a Design Engineer for special foundations, retaining walls and ground improvement. Over the years, he contributed to the design and construction of several projects around the globe, as well as developing technical solutions for a wide range of technologies including Jet Grouting, Deep Mixing, Slurry Walls and Drilled Shafts.