

Jeff Burton, P.Eng

Jeff Burton, P.Eng., is director of information systems and research at Advanced Construction Techniques (ACT) in Ontario, Canada. With over 24 years in geotechnical data management, he has been involved in dozens of projects to advance designing, programming, deploying and maintaining innovative data management systems for the geotechnical construction industry. A University of Waterloo engineering graduate, he has also authored publications on grout monitoring systems and alarm enhancements.