

Corey Sechler

Corey Sechler received his B.S. in Civil Engineering Technology from the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown in 1999. Currently, he serves as Sales Manager for Creative Composites Group's waterfront solutions encompassing the Creative Pultrusions, Composite Advantage and Kenway divisions.

Before joining Creative Pultrusions, Corey has served in various construction, manufacturing, and technical sales capacities, including national sales manager for J&J Truck Bodies, Aerospace business development manager at Roll Forming Corp (a division of voestalpine) and in various capacities for Deist Industries, a manufacturer and distributor of truck bodies and truck equipment.