

Remco Offenberg

Remco Offenberg is a senior geotechnical engineer, project manager and co-founder of Allnamics Geotechnical & Pile Testing Experts BV. Remco has over 20 years of experience in geotechnical and civil engineering and is expert on investigating and assessing foundations. This includes the evaluation of old foundations, like the timber foundation of the old canal houses in Amsterdam as well as issues related to newly built foundations, such as driveability problems and vibrations nuisance and damage. As a specialist he is involved in studies related to durability, reuse and refit of many foundations, both from a technical as an economical point of view.